University Notes
A game of foot ball between the University and the team from the government Indian school will probably be played next Saturday at the fair grounds.

The class in psychology is giving some time to the study of psychic phenomena that they may keep track of what is going on in that line of study.

From the movements on the foot hills in line with silver avenue it begins to look as though that street is to be widened through and graded to the mesa. The university wishes the effort great success.

Harold Marsh, whose parents moved to Nebraska last summer, is now in the high school at Alliance, Neb. He is doing well, but had a preference for the U. S. M. He spent the summer on the ranch.

A new poet has developed, or discovered at the university. He is writing a continued story for the U. S. M. Weekly and a poem from his pen appears in almost every issue over the name of Charles M. Horton.

The student body is struggling with the college medley-arranged by President T.ight in the new song book. It is a fine medley, but it requires considerable practice to be able to make the sudden changes in difficult keys.

The new literary and debating society organized for boys occasionally has given itself a name—"The Khiva," and the members are to be known as Kanas. These Kanas have been discussing the advisability of holding all meetings behind closed doors.

Miss Lillian E. Huggert's oration that won a prize last year at the oratorical contest has been published in "The Messenger of Peace" at Richmond, Indiana. Her subject, "The Policy of War," was suggested by Professor Cyrus W. Hodgkin, president of the Peace Association of America. He was pleased with the oration.

President T.ight gave a forcible talk at assembly last Friday morning on the degenerating influences among boys. He dwelt particularly on the effects of cigarettes and read from authority to back up his statements. It seems as though any fellow who was

In that habit of getting into it, take a second thought before would recklessly continue to put into his system which sooner or later makes nervous wrecks and unbalanced minds.
